

Facility Type	Definition	Emergency Plan	Evaluation
Family Care Home	Two to six bed facility providing assistance to people with problems carrying out activities of daily living	Fire plan approved by local code enforcement  Disaster plan approved by local EMA OR with documentation of submission to local EMA and local agency coordinating special needs during disasters	Drills completed quarterly  Plan updated annually with documentation of approval OR submission.
Adult Care Home	Seven or more bed facility providing assistance to people with problems carrying out activities of daily living	Fire plan approved by local code enforcement  Disaster plan approved by local EMA OR with documentation of submission to local EMA and local agency coordinating special needs during disasters	Drills completed quarterly  Plan updated annually with documentation of approval OR submission.
Multi-Unit Assisted Housing with Services (MUAH)	Unlicensed (not regulated) facility that can provide assistance with personal care on a scheduled basis through a licensed home care agency.	No requirements	No requirements
Facility Type	Definition	Emergency Plan	Evaluation
ESRD	End Stage Renal Disease Facility (Dialysis)	Contingency plan for water failure  Disaster plan developed	Annual communication with local EMA regarding potential needs  Annual staff training completed
Facility Type	Definition	Emergency Plan	Evaluation
Nursing Home	Facility providing chronic or rehabilitative care	Fire plan approved by local code enforcement  Disaster plan developed and made available upon request	Documented quarterly fire drills  Annual staff training
Facility Type	Definition	Emergency Plan	Evaluation
Continuing Care Retirement Community	Communities that provide a continuum of care to older adults (independent living, assisted living, skilled nursing)	Refer to specific requirements for each level of skilled facility above.	Refer to specific requirements for each level of skilled facility above.